

Consent to a procedure

What is being proposed

Page 1 of 3

This form records your consent to the procedure named below. The description was written for you by the team proposing it.

Take as long as you need. You can decline, ask questions, ask for a paper copy, or change your mind before the procedure begins.

Patient name

Date of birth

Procedure name

Procedure description

Consent to a procedure

Risks and alternatives

Page 2 of 3

Every procedure carries risk. The risks below are the ones the team considers material for you. Initial this page to confirm they were explained to you and that you had the chance to ask about them.

Alternatives, including doing nothing, were discussed with you. Ask for them to be explained again if you are unsure.

Known risks

Initials

Consent to a procedure

Signatures

Page 3 of 3

The patient signs first, then the witness confirms that the patient signed willingly, then the clinician attests that the procedure and its risks were explained.

Patient signature

Date signed

Witness signature

Date signed

Clinician signature

Date signed